SHEARER, NAVAL PROPAGANDIST, ON STAND

PROVES TO BE MILITANT WITNESS AT THE HEARING

VOICE OF THE SO-CALLED "BASS DRUM" IS HARSH, MANNER
BELLIGERENT

WANTS TO TELL HIS STORY, TO MAKE STATEMENTS, TO ASK QUESTIONS

By PAUL R. MALLON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Sept. 30.—William B. Shearer, big navy propagandist, told the senate committee investigating naval lobbying here today that any statement crediting him with breaking up the 1927 Geneva disarmament conference was "ridiculous."

"It is a most ridiculous statement when you read Ambassador Gibson's statement as to why the conference broke up," Shearer said in answer to questions of Chairman Shortridge.

Shearer told a story filled with dramatic charges against senators, shipbuilders and newspapers and admitted before the committee adjourned for lunch that he had been arrested and forfeited $500 bond in New Rochelle, N. Y., in a liquor case.

He pictured himself as a patriot at the Geneva disarmament conference and said that he represented his country before he did the American shipbuilders who paid him $25,000 to go there.

The witness shouted down members of the investigating committee in telling an entirely different story of his employment by the shipbuilders than they told. He said he was not hired to break down the Geneva conference but to see that America received parity and adequate national defense.

He claimed to have put through congress the three cruiser bill of 1926, and said Charles M. Schwab of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, who denied he knew Shearer was the first one to suggest that he go to Geneva.

The name of Senator William H. King, democrat, Utah, repeatedly was brought into the evidence by Shearer. He said at one time King warned him to cease his navy fight or he would be "framed." He claimed, too, that King wanted to get a naval base at Salt Lake City, Utah, and spoke of having him see Chairman Shortridge of the committee on one occasion when they agreed on the question of white supremacy.

King told the United Press Shearer's statements in relation to him were "silly and absurd."

"When he wanted to appear before the naval committee, I told him I did not think he was a man the committee wanted to hear," King said. "That's all the truth there is in what he said."

King probably will take the stand later to deny Shearer's testimony.

Washington, Sept. 30.—William B. Shearer, naval propagandist extraordinary, was called to the witness stand before the senate investigating committee today to tell of his activities for American shipbuilders at the Geneva conference.

Shearer wore his usual dark blue double-breasted suit with a red and blue tie and tan velvet-topped shoes. He looked very much like the super-salesman he was called by the shipbuilders who said he had "talked us into this mess."

Shearer was accompanied by his counsel, Daniel J. Cohalan of New York.

"Mr. Shearer," called Chairman Shortridge.

"Yes," said Shearer jumping up eagerly. "William Baldwin Shearer, American, christian, Protestant."

"Strike out all of that except that which is responsive to my question," said Shortridge. He warned Shearer to make answers responsive to question.

Q—Your address?
A—30 West 54th Street.

Q—You have an office?
A—I had—45 Nassau St.

Q—Born?
A—August 23, 1874, in Philadelphia.

"I ask the privilege of telling my story," Shearer broke in.

"You will be granted every opportunity given other witnesses," Shortridge replied.

"May I make a statement?"
"No."

"Can I ask you a question?"
"Yes."

"You have let every witness make a statement, even a stool pigeon from Great Britain. Senator Robinson, republican, Arkansas, mentioned me on the floor. Senator Allen, republican, Kansas, has accused me in the press."

Both Robinson and Allen denied Shearer's statement.

"You must mean some one else," said Robinson.

"You have raked the sewers of London digging up a scurrilous document charging me with being implicated in a jewel robbery," Shearer said, disregarding the statements of the two senators. "And you say this committee is fair."

His voice was harsh and his manner belligerent.

"Do you think you can influence me by your manner?" Shortridge told him.

"I can tell you more in 30 minutes than you can learn in 30 years,"

JAPANESE EMPRESS GIVES BIRTH TO A DAUGHTER TODAY

Tokio, Sept. 30.—(U.P.)—The Empress Magako gave birth to a daughter today.

Owing to some misunderstanding an announcement was broadcast from the capital that the infant was a boy and that an heir had at last been born to the throne.

The erroneous report caused the beginning to country wide rejoicing, which changed into gloom and disappointment, when the press announced the truth, the birth of a girl.

The child was the third daughter to be born to the royal family.

HOW IT FEELS TO BE BRITISH WOMAN MINISTER

SUSAN LAWRENCE IS PARLIAMENTARY SECRETARY TO MINISTRY OF HEALTH

HAD WORKED ON EQUAL TERMS WITH MEN IN CITY ADMINISTRATION

By HENRY T. RUSSELL
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

(Copyright, 1929, in all countries by United Press. All rights reserved.)
London, Sept. 30.—"Have you a cigarette?" asked Susan Lawrence, parliamentary secretary to the ministry of health and one of the women members of Britain's labor government.

This was the prelude to an exclusive interview which she granted to the United Press and during which, after describing how it feels to be a woman minister," she expressed the opinion that it was in the hearts of humanity to prevent future wars" and not particularly in the hearts of the male sex.

"There is no moral superiority in sex," she commenced, explaining her contention that wars of the future could only be prevented by co-operation between men and women.

"Fathers," she added, "grieve as much as mothers the deaths of their sons. It is quite wrong, in my opinion, to think that mothers only should be able to prevent wars. Woman's role in war is much the same as man's in that both suffer. The only difference is that the one suffers moral torture while her mate endures physical pain. And so are the roles of the sexes similar with regard to the prevention of wars. Equal franchise enables them to vote anti-war if it is in their hearts to do so."

Asked "how it feels to be a woman minister," she replied:
"It really makes no difference at all. You see I've been working on equal terms with men for a number of years in city administration. This has made me get over that feeling."

Immediately she added: "But, of course, it is rather nice. It does feel just nice to be here, because, after all, it is a symbol of what we fought for in suffragette days, isn't it?"

"Architecture more than any of the arts, reveals the soul of a country," she said, coupling art with a discussion of Anglo-American relations. "I long to see the skyscrapers of America. They are impressive, new, magnificent, formidable. They are modern. They are the finger-prints of America."

PANTAGES MOTION FOR CHANGE OF VENUE ARGUED

Los Angeles, Calif., Sept. 30.—(U.P.)—Alexander Pantages, millionaire theatre man, will learn today whether the courtroom in which his wife, Mrs. Lois Pantages, was convicted of manslaughter will be the scene of his trial on charges of attacking Eunice Pringle, 17-year-old dancer.

Pantages' motion for a change of venue, charging Los Angeles is prejudiced against him, will be argued before Judge Charles Fricke. If it is denied Pantages will go to trial here Tuesday.

Mrs. Pantages was ordered to appear before Judge Carlos Hardy for sentencing. Her automobile crashed with that of Juro Rokumoto and caused his death.

Shearer replied, waving a paper excitedly at the committee.

"We will get it in our own way."

"No, you won't, because you can't. Only one man knows it."

Shortridge disregarded Shearer.

"Are you the W. B. Shearer who commenced an action against Bethlehem, Newport News and American Bown-Boveri shipbuilding companies?" Shortridge asked.

"Yes, sir," Shearer replied, less belligerently.

Shortridge read Shearer's complaint, asking $250,000 additional fees for lobbying, into the record. It told of Shearer's services at Washington, Geneva and other places, "for the aid of the business and financial interests" of the ship companies.

Fate of Hoover Appeal to Retain Flexible Tariff Provision Seems to be in Doubt

POLL TAKEN BY UNITED PRESS IN THE MATTER

VICE PRESIDENT CURTIS MAY BE CALLED TO BREAK
POSSIBLE TIE

OF 92 SENATORS, 45 ARE OPPOSED TO FLEXIBLE TARIFF, 43 FAVOR, 4 SILENT

By NATHAN ROBERTSON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Sept. 30.—The fate of President Hoover's appeal for retention of the flexible provision of the tariff bill, which would give him authority to change duties on the recommendation of the tariff commission, is in doubt in the senate, a poll by the United Press today revealed. Vice President Curtis may be called in to break a possible tie.

The poll showed that of the 92 senators expected to be recorded when the vote is taken this week, 45 are opposed to the flexible tariff, 43 are in favor of it and four are not either way—Johnson, republican, California; Thomas, republican, Idaho; Kendrick, democrat, Wyoming; Dill, democrat, Washington.

With 92 senators voting, the president's supporters will have to muster only 46 votes, as in the case of a tie Vice President Curtis would vote with them; while to defeat the president his opponents will have to get 47 votes.

The United Press poll revealed 32 democrats and 13 republicans will vote against the president. They include:

Republicans—Blaine, Wisconsin; Borah, Idaho; Brookhart, Iowa; Frazier, North Dakota; Howell, Nebraska; LaFollette, Wisconsin; McMaster, South Dakota; Norbeck, South Dakota; Norris, Nebraska; Nye, North Dakota, and Schall, Minn.

Democrats—Walsh, Montana, and Wheeler, Montana.

Thirty-nine republicans and four democrats will vote with the president, to retain the flexible tariff, the poll indicated. They included:

Republicans—Deneen, Illinois; Edge, New Jersey; Fess, Ohio; McNary, Oregon.

Democrats—Broussard, Louisiana; Fletcher, Florida; Ransdell, Louisiana, and Trammell, Florida.

Chairman Shouse of the national democratic executive committee, in a statement, said if the flexible provision of the tariff bill should come to an immediate vote it would be defeated. He declared republican leaders including President Hoover, were violating their pledge made in 1922 when the present law was enacted to eliminate the flexible provision as soon as the chaotic conditions prevailing then had ceased to exist.

'LAND OF SOVIETS' FLASHED AN SOS SIGNAL BY MISTAKE

Sitka, Alaska, Sept. 30.—(U.P.)—After causing considerable alarm by flashing an SOS through the air, the monoplane, "Land of the Soviets," bearing four Russian aviators on a Moscow to New York flight, was safe at anchor here today and being prepared for a take-off for Seattle probably Tuesday.

The fliers landed here from Seward at 4:45 p. m. (8:45 p. m. EST) yesterday, after six and three-quarter hours continuous flight. They were two hours behind schedule in arriving here, having been delayed by thick fog.

An SOS signal sent out by the plane's radio operator was a mistake, it was explained on the arrival of the plane.

CHIEF CLERK IN HOTEL INSPECTION BUREAU ARRESTED

MRS. MARY F. KNISPSEL CHARGED WITH ISSUING DUPLICATE LICENSES

COMPLAINT ISSUED BY HENRY RINES, STATE COMPTROLLER

St. Paul, Sept. 30.—Mrs. Mary F. Knispel, chief clerk in the state hotel inspection bureau, was arrested here today in connection with investigations of shortages in the bureau.

The complaint, issued by Henry Rines, state comptroller and ex-officio state public examiner, charged Mrs. Knispel with the issuance of duplicate licenses to hotel and restaurant keepers.

Mrs. Knispel, step-daughter of W. A. Wittbecker, head of the bureau, was specifically charged with having issued a license to A. M. Mortensen, Richfield Station, on May 21, 1929, and with having issued a duplicate license of the same number to R. J. Wood, Oxboro, Minn.

The order for Mrs. Knispel's arrest follows a demand for "pitiless publicity into the entire matter," voiced by her mother, Mrs. Wittbecker.

Within a fortnight after investigations into the alleged shortages in the bureau first were begun, Rines declared that the total losses may amount to $8,000.

RISES IN AIRPLANE PROPELLED BY ROCKETS

Frankfurt, German, Sept. 30.—(U.P.)—Fritz von Opel, the wealthy young automobile magnate, succeeded today in rising in an airplane propelled by rockets instead of by a motor.

Von Opel has been planning to attempt a flight across the English channel in his unique plane, today's flight being a preliminary test.

Von Opel, after two failures, rose in the air and attained a height of 170 feet. He landed after flying for six miles.

PELICAN RAPIDS GIRL IS MISSING MORE THAN WEEK

Minneapolis, Sept. 30.—(U.P.)—Authorities here today broadcast a description of Leona Hall, 17 years old, of Pelican Rapids, Minn., who was reported missing for more than a week. The girl was en route from her home to Omaha, Neb., and was believed to have become lost here while changing trains.

COMMUNISTS IN CHINA IMPRISON GERMAN DOMINICANS

Hong Kong, Sept. 30.—(U.P.)—A force of communists today captured the town of Shang-Hang and made prisoners of the members of the German Dominican mission at Ting-Chow.

Seven of the Dominicans were later released, four were detained in the hospital to treat those who had been wounded in the assault on the town, and the others, including three sisters, were held for ransom.

ADEQUATE DEFENSE ON LAND AND SEA IS URGED AT LEGION

ARMY AND NAVY LEADERS
SPEAK AT OPENING SESSION OF ORGANIZATION

ADMIRAL RODMAN COMPARES
SECOND BEST NAVY TO SECOND
BEST POKER HAND

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 30.—(U.P.)—Adequate defense on land and sea for the nation whose colors they followed in the World War was urged before some 45,000 Legionnaires by army and navy leaders at the opening session of the eleventh annual convention of the American Legion here today.

After spending Sunday parading the city behind gayly caparisoned drum corps and bands and larking under the tutelage of the Forty and Eight detachments, the Legionnaires today listened to Admiral Hugh Rodman, U. S. N., retired, compare a second best navy to a second best poker hand and Gen. Payton C. March, former chief of staff of the U. S. Army, urge a highly trained army, a navy equal in strength to the strongest and a strong merchant marine.

Admiral Rodman declared the United States needs in both peace and war time an adequate navy on a parity with that of any other nation.

"There is little or no use in having an inferior navy," he said. "You might just as well expect a lame mule to win the Kentucky derby as a country with a second best navy to win a war."

The present storm, however, appears to be a meteorological freak, bouncing off its course so often that attempts to predict the hurricane area in advance are likely to be inaccurate.

At midnight the center of the hurricane was 125 miles south of Apalachicola.

Last night the naval radio station at Key West received a message from the steamship, British Light, which said:

"Report having passed a mast projecting eight feet above the water, probably attached to wreckage."

The British Light was midway between Florida and the Bahamas when she sent the message. There was no clue to the identity of the ship that may have been wrecked by the storm.

Key West also received a message from the coast guard cutter Saucier, concerning the steamer Scandia, grounded 40 miles south of Miami. It said:

"Scandia total wreck. Have taken off five men. Due to very sloppy sea for small boats have discontinued for night and laying off Molasses Reef."

The barometer became stationary here at 8 A. M., but many towns along the northern edge of the gulf were cut off, as the high wind tore down wires.

Carrabelle, Fla., was evacuated by its 1,000 inhabitants during the night. Pensacola harbor, lashed by the gale, was filled with freighters that had left docks to anchor in mid-stream as a precaution. Waters of Carrabelle river and St. George's Sound were blown so by the wind that banks were visible below ebb tide marks.

From Mississippi gulf coast ports, fishing craft set out at dawn to warn fishermen who live on scattered islands of the danger.

A score of ocean going vessels were anchored off Port Eads, lighthouse at the mouth of the Mississippi river. The lighthouse keeper there reported that seas were unusually calm. The barometer there had dropped to 30.03 at 7 A. M., 30 points in 12 hours. At Biloxi, Miss., the barometer stood at 29.02 at the same hour.

Mobile, Ala., Sept. 30.—A 75-mile an hour gale for this seaport was predicted by the weather bureau today after watching course of the hurricane in the Gulf of Mexico.

The storm center at 9 A. M. was southeast of Pensacola, Fla., the bureau said and moving northwest between 10 and 20 miles an hour. Schools were let out here and ships in harbor moved up the Mobile river to shelter.

Washington, Sept. 30.—The United States weather bureau today ordered storm warnings along the Alabama and Mississippi coasts changed to hurricane warnings.

The tropical storm which struck Florida was reported about 75 miles southeast of Pensacola moving westward at 10 to 12 miles an hour.

"In the absence of Apalachicola report indications are that the center will cross the coast line near Pensacola this afternoon attended by winds of hurricane force," the bureau said.

MUCH DAMAGE IS DONE IN THE BAHAMA ISLANDS

PRESENT STORM APPEARS TO BE A METEOROLOGICAL
FREAK

BOUNCES OFF ITS COURSE
FREQUENTLY, UPSETTING ALL PREDICTIONS

Pensacola, Fla., Sept. 30.—(U.P.)—The tropical hurricane, raging through the Gulf of Mexico after sweeping the Bahamas Islands and southern Florida, produced galelike winds on the gulf coasts of Alabama and northwestern Florida today.

Apalachicola and Port St. Joe reported winds of 50 miles velocity at 5 A. M. when telephone lines began to go out, breaking off communication from those two towns.

Panama City, Fla., reported a 53-mile an hour wind at dawn, while barometer drops were recorded all along the gulf coast as far as New Orleans, where a reading of 29.77 at 5 A. M. was a two-point drop in two hours.

Even before storm warnings went out, northern Florida was getting ready for the hurricane already has wrecked two ships and taken 11 lives—three in Florida and eight in the Bahamas. Storm warnings advising preparations for "the very worst" were posted at 6 P. M. yesterday; steamers slipped out from piers, paying out fathoms of cable and dropping extra anchors in deep water. Residents were prepared to move to higher ground if necessary.

Warnings extended to Biloxi, Miss., for experience has shown that hurricanes usually pass northward across the coastline, twist through the Carolinas and Virginia and wear themselves down to a harmless sephyr out over the Atlantic.

The present storm, however, appears to be a meteorological freak, bouncing off its course so often that attempts to predict the hurricane area in advance are likely to be inaccurate.

Nassau in Ruins as Storm Moves on Florida

Twenty persons are reported dead and the city of Nassau in ruins from the hurricane that has been threatening the Florida coast for the past three days. Indications point toward severe damage in Florida, especially in the Palm Beach district, where the full force of the wind is expected to be felt. Key West is also in serious danger. Illustrations above show Nassau previous to the devastation caused by the storm.

The nephew, police said, admitted he struck at Dueber with a gun in an attempt to stop him from abusing the elderly woman. Bruhm said the gun was accidentally discharged and Dueber was wounded.

Improved Highways Aid Dairy Industry

IMPROVED highway transportation has played an important part in the rapid progress of dairying in Minnesota. It is even suggested by many that the industry has been revolutionized because of it.

The time is not long past when the territory served by the average small creamery was restricted to the area immediately adjacent because of the difficulty encountered in marketing milk and cream with horse-drawn vehicles over poor roads.

Infrequent delivery of milk and cream was caused by the inconvenience due to poor roads. This practice resulted in comparatively high overhead costs. Quality of production was penalized because of the lack of freshness in the raw material. This has all been changed.

The advent of the automobile brought about a demand for improved roads which now persists more strongly than ever not only in cities and towns but in rural sections as well. Secondary roads are recognized as necessary and valuable adjuncts of the trunk highways and improvements are being demanded accordingly.

Daily delivery of milk and cream is made possible by motor transportation over good highways. Increased production has caused the small rural creamery of yesterday to be replaced by modern structures designed for greater capacity and equipped with efficient machinery. The Land O' Lakes organization which in 1928 handled more than $50,000,000 worth of dairy and poultry products is an example of the rapid growth and the importance of quick transportation and adequate highways to the dairy industry.

Marketing of strictly fresh cream made possible the manufacture of Land O' Lakes Sweet Cream Butter which has set a standard of perfection throughout the entire country and has brought Minnesota to the forefront as a dairying state. The improved highways also permits the concentration of sweet cream and shipments by truck for distances of fifty miles or more to central creameries where in turn it was shipped to eastern centers for table consumption, a most desirable market.

Among the factors responsible for the remarkable success and growth of Land O' Lakes products, speed in marketing is of major importance. Every pound of the great amount of dairy and poultry products handled by the organization through more than four hundred and fifty member creameries is carried on highways by motor vehicles during some stage of the journey in passing from producer to consumer.

Improve highways designed to meet the need of present day traffic conditions means uninterrupted transportation during all seasons of the year which is vital not only to the dairy industry but to all agriculture and commerce in general.

What Puts the Crimp in Things

THERE are certain factors which tend to destroy the best laid plans of men.

Elections are lost in America because of the general apathy of voters, exemplified when no interest can be generated, when no issues of consequence appear at stake.

A patient dies when general debility is manifest and he shows no signs of recuperation.

Another General with whom Brainerd has become acquainted is general ineligibility. Some of this cropped out in first and second string football squads, but the resourceful Coach Kasch conquered Wadena by filling gaps. The ineligibility rules govern Brainerd whether playing conference or non-conference games.

MISS ANGELA GREEN, born and raised in Brainerd, has distinguished herself as a fisherwoman. She caught a muskie weighing 42 pounds whose girth measured 26 inches. It was taken after a 25 minute battle from the famous waters of Eabaskong Bay, Lake of the Woods, Ontario, where she spent the summer at her brother's camp, Green's Camp, on Nestor's Falls. Miss Green, now Mrs. P. T. Boleyn of Fargo, N. D., was a graduate of the Northern Pacific Training School for Nurses and afterwards, for many years, was president of the Nurses Association of North Dakota. At present Mrs. Boleyn is editor of the Federation of Women's Clubs Bulletin for the State of North Dakota.

M. W. NEWCOMB of Minneapolis, former District Governor of the Lions, will deliver an address at Aitkin this evening on the problems and opportunities of Aitkin as a trade center. The Aitkin Lions club engaged Mr. Newcomb to make a trade survey. Suggestions as to how business pursuits may be extended along new lines, as well as along old lines, are expected to be made by Mr. Newcomb in his address.

TULSA, known as the oil capital of the world, is staging the International Petroleum Exposition and Congress. The Brainerd Rotary club, which during the summer has a large number of visitors from Tulsa, has always been aware of the importance of Tulsa as an oil center, for the Tulsans are as energetic as the Kansans in spreading the merits of their home section.

COUNTRY bankers from three states will gather at Minneapolis on November 14 for the first tri-state conference. The conference is sponsored by the bankers associations of North Dakota, South Dakota, and Minnesota, which according to George Susans, secretary of Minnesota Bankers Association, is expected to draw a large attendance.

MISSOURI "houn' dogs" have so increased in value that the best ones are worth $100. Kicking one of these around by an unauthorized kicker raises the ire of any red-blooded Missourian.

CHICAGO will have half a million bowlers in action this season. Every branch of industry is represented by squads of five men in leagues that compete on public and private alleys.

WILLIAM B. SHEARER, who claims he was hired as publicity man by certain shipbuilding interests, is now getting more unpaid publicity than he ever surmised possible.

THE advancing popularity of oil as fuel has done away with the periodical alarm sounded by coal men of alleged shortages in coal.

BANK and messenger robbers have obtained more than $40,000 this year from Minnesota banks.

FARM CHAMPION

Dorothy Marshall, whose ability to milk cows, pitch hay and do farm chores won her the title of America's champion farm girl in the finals of the novel contest held at the Los Angeles Fair at Pomona, Calif.

Stimson Investigates Cuban Charges

(Right) Secretary of State Stimson discusses with Senator Borah, Chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, charges recently brought by American residents of Cuba, relative to the high-handed methods of the island administration.

Kerosene Shuts Off Air

When kerosene is poured on the top of stagnant water in a pond, it kills the wigglers under the surface because the air supply is cut off. This eventually kills the insects in the water.

Comet's Transit

The Naval observatory says that Halley's comet crossed the face of the sun May 18, 1910. This is known only by the computed positions of the comet in its orbit as no evidence whatever of the transit was observed on the sun's disk.

Watch Tongue For Signs of Illness

Your tongue is nothing more than the upper end of your stomach and intestines. It is the first thing your doctor looks at. It tells at a glance the condition of your digestive system—and physicians say that 90 per cent of all sicknesses start with stomach and bowel trouble.

Look at your TONGUE every morning!

A white or yellowish coating on your tongue is a danger signal of those digestive disorders. It tells you why the least exertion tires you out; why you have pains in the bowels, gas, sour stomach, dizzy spells.

And it's a sign you need Tanlac. This good old reliable medicine has helped thousands who were physical wrecks. See how the first bottle helps you.

Tanlac contains no mineral drugs; it is made of barks, herbs and roots—nature's own medicines for the sick. Get a bottle from your druggist today. Your money back if it doesn't help you.

Friends you can trust

Advertised products are your friends wherever you find them. You know them. And you can buy them with confidence—sure of honest value for your money. For they have stood the test of public scrutiny, they have been advertised and found worthy.

For advertising, after all, is a test—a trial by the fire of public approval. Today no manufacturer would start advertising his products unless he knew they were sound and good. And if errors did creep in, he would be quick to correct them, for to hold business he must uphold the confidence advertising has created among millions of people for his wares.

Advertising brings protection to the consumer. It guarantees honest value. It sends quality up. The manufacturer who advertises builds up such a volume of sales that he gives far more in both quality and quantity than the non-advertiser can possibly do.

Seek out your friends—the advertised products. Favor the dealer who handles them. Look for them on the shelves. Watch for them in the show windows. They are the hallmarks of a good business house. They are negotiable guarantees of value. They are friends you can trust.

Advertised products are sometimes not the cheapest you can buy; but they are always the cheapest to own

EVERY TEAM IN WESTERN CONFERENCE IN ACTION SOON

QUESTION THE ELIGIBILITY OF COACH SPEARS SQUAD

NOTRE DAME-INDIANA GAME LEADS IN INTEREST

ILLINOIS-KANSAS AND WISCONSIN-COLGATE NEXT IN IMPORTANCE

5 CONFERENCE TEAMS ALREADY HAVE ENGAGED IN INITIAL CONTESTS

By PAUL KING
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Chicago, Sept. 30.—Led in interest by the Notre Dame-Indiana, Illinois-Kansas and Wisconsin-Colgate games, every team in the western conference will see action over the week-end.

Five conference teams already have engaged in initial contests, but the others have yet to take the field against serious competition.

Coach Knute Rockne's Notre Dame Irish will provide competition for the Crimson in Memorial stadium. Although Indiana broke even in a double header Saturday, winning from Washburn 19 to 2 and losing to Ohio State 16 to 0, the Ramblers are not expecting an easy tussle.

Coach Eob Zuppke's Illinois aggregation will be host to Kansas University at Urbana. While not regarded as a set up for the Illini, the Kansans are expected to provide little serious competition.

Wisconsin, a Big Ten favorite, will clash with Colgate at Madison after doing as expected by defeating South Dakota, 21 to 0.

Coach Doc Spears will throw his heavy Minnesota squad against Coe College at Minneapolis. The Gophers, though hard hit by graduation, have been rounded into a fighting aggregation and are expected to go far in the conference competition. Coe defeated the Iowa Teachers 7 to 0 last week-end.

Northwestern will be pitted against Patsy Clark's highly polished Butler eleven at Evanston. Butler emerged a 13 to 9 victor over Illinois Wesleyan in its initial fray.

After defeating Carroll College, 48 to 0, Iowa State will battle Monmouth College at Iowa City. Though heartened by announcement that Pape, star back, had been declared eligible, another upset occurred when several other athletes were ruled ineligible because of scholastic delinquency and failure to complete registration.

Michigan, coached by Harry Kipke, among the greatest kickers of all time, will engage Michigan State at Ann Arbor. The Wolverines were accorded little competition by Albion in its opening game, winning 39 to 0. Michigan also defeated Mount Union, 16 to 6.

Ohio State was expected to defeat Wittenberg with little difficulty at Columbus.

Purdue's Boilermakers are confronted with a serious opponent for their opening game when the Kansas Aggies will line up against Jimmy Phelan's squad at Lafayette. With "Pest" Welch in the line-up and several other promising men from last year's squad, the Boilermakers are expected to be well in the conference running.

The Chicago Maroons, given little chance of finishing high in the conference, will open with Beloit. Although Stag's aggregation is light and fast, it is expected to do little in Big Ten competition.

GOPHER TEAM IS HARASSED BY MANY INJURIES

BEGINNING OF CLASSES RESTRICTS DRILL TO ONE SESSION DAILY

HALF DOZEN PLAYERS IN FIRST STRING FACE ELIGIBILITY TEST

Minnesota University, like the high school of Brainerd, has certain study requirements which must be fulfilled by football candidates.

Chandler Forman, writing in today's Minneapolis Tribune, states that the very serious question of who will and who will not be eligible to play intercollegiate football for the University of Minnesota this season will be settled this week, probably Thursday, when the eligibility board meets.

With a half dozen players of first string possibilities on the questionable list scholastically and as many more on the sidelines nursing more or less serious injuries, the outlook that Coach Spears faces is none too bright.

The eligibility board is composed of Professors Otto S. Zeller and William L. Boyd and an as yet unnamed student.

There is more gloom about the Gopher camp this week than has been loosed for several seasons. Monday classes are open and the practices are restricted to one a day and that cut to two hours in length. This week is the last of practice before the opening contest with Coe and the Gophers are not developed nearly as far as Coach Spears had planned to have them at this point in the season. Injuries, condition examinations and the many details attendant upon registration for the fall quarter have raised havoc with the first two weeks of practice. Things became so bad late last week that the doctor was forced to abandon practice Friday afternoon.

The injury bugaboo started its work with the incapacitation of Harold Barnhart, counted upon for a first string backfield job, and continued until Win Brockmeyer, Art Pharmer, Quentin Burdick, Harold Elmlein, LeRoy Timm, Bobby Bardwell, Clinton Riebeth, George Langenberg and Harold Anderson were afflicted with injuries of one kind or another. Several of these players are indefinitely lost to the squad and are not expected to be in condition to play in the Coe contest.

The situation is more serious than Mr. Football Fan is inclined to believe. Minnesota faces one of the most strenuous Big Ten schedules in its history this season. Starting with the Coe game Saturday, the Gophers will play eight consecutive games, including five conference contests. The squad must needs be at the highest possible point of development before the season starts. Minnesota will need to put its full strength onto the field to cope with so strenuous a program and right now the prospect is none too bright.

Freshman Coach Louis Gross will get his first look at the new frosh squad when the yearlings report for the opening practice Monday afternoon. Gross will have six assistants in handling the youngsters. Two of them are volunteers, Dutch Arendse and Lloyd Westin, the others being Otis McCreery, Dave MacMillan, Mert Dunnigan and Lou Keller.

WHAT TO EXPECT IN EASTERN GRID GAMES

BIG SURPRISES RECORDED IN MANY OF THE OPENING GAMES

COLGATE UNDER NEW COACH GOES WEST TO MEET WISCONSIN

By GEORGE KIRKSEY,
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

New York, Sept. 30.—(UP)—A fair example of what to expect this year was indicated in the opening games of the eastern football season when Brown and West Virginia went down to College came through after narrow escapes.

Springfield (Mass.) college beat Brown, 7 to 6, and Davis-Elkins repeated last year's victory over West Virginia, 14 to 6. Davis-Elkins, called the "scarlet hurricane," will be remembered as the eleven which beat the Navy in an early season game last year, 2 to 0.

Penn barely beat little Franklin & Marshall, 14 to 7, thanks to a 97-yard run from kickoff by Rolf Carlsen, Penn halfback playing his first varsity game.

Boston college, undefeated last season, nosed out Catholic U., 13 to 6.

In other sections the biggest surprises were the defeat of Georgia by Oglethorpe, 14 to 7, and the near defeat of Southern Methodist which came within a point of tying the Army last season. Little Howard Payne tied Southern Methodist, 13 to 13.

Big games this year include the opening of the season for the one-time Big Three—Yale, Harvard and Princeton—and intersectional games between Colgate-Wisconsin and Nebraska-Southern Methodist.

Colgate, under a new coach, Andy Kerr, goes west to meet Wisconsin, and Southern Methodist travels to Lincoln, Neb., to meet the Cornhuskers.

coached by Dana X. Bible, member of the rules committee and former Texas A. & M. Mentor.

Yale plays Vermont, swamped by New York university last week, 77 to 0. Princeton meets Amherst and Harvard plays Bates.

Notre Dame opens its season against Indiana at Bloomington. Rockne has another great ball carrier in Martin Brih, former Penn star. He weighs 190 and is fast and hits like a pilot-driver. Watch him—B-r-i-h-l-l.

Out of the early games in the east the following teams appear most for midable.

New York university, Dartmouth, Army, Pittsburgh, Carnegie Tech, and Navy.

O'DOUL, FONSECA LEAD IN MAJOR LEAGUE BATTING

New York, Sept. 30.—(UP)—Frank (Lefty) O'Doul, Phillies outfielder, and Lew Fonseca, Cleveland first baseman, held commanding leads today in the major league batting race.

O'Doul, batting .386, held an eleven point margin over Babe Herman, Brooklyn, and Fonseca, batting .373, held a six point edge over Al Simmons, Athletics outfielder.

The standing of the two leaders in each league follows:

Player	Club	G	A	B	R	H	Pct
O'Doul	Phila	152	625	147	248	395	.386
Herman	Brooklyn	145	565	105	217	384	.373
Fonseca	Cleveland	146	558	89	203	373	.373
Simmons	Phila	141	570	111	209	367	.367

Jonathan Stone's single in the 11th enabled Detroit to beat the Chicago White Sox, 9 to 8.

Roger Hornsby's 39th home run of the season accounted for the Chicago Cubs' 1 to 0 victory over Cincinnati. Bill Walter won his eighth straight game, the New York Giants beating the Phillies, 4 to 2.

DeBerry's single in the ninth enabled Brooklyn to beat the Boston Braves, 3 to 2.

Beating Al Grabowski, Cardinal recruit, Pittsburgh won the first game from St. Louis, 5 to 1, but lost the second, 10 to 2.

Coming Feather Champ

By HARDIN BURNLEY

CHICAGO feels it has got a future world's champion featherweight in the swift and stiff punching person of Earl Mastro, who, in less than a year, has made fistic sages blink by defeating such stars as Fidel La Barba and Kid Francis in whirlwind ten-rounders. More recently he blazed his way to further popularity by outpointing his fellow-townsmen, Eddie Shea, in championship style.

Mastro is a native product of Chi's West Side that has bred many other ring brilliants. Earl professes to be 21 years old so he can box for more than six rounds legally; but other reports have it that he is not quite 20 yet!

On the West Side, fists come in handy from infancy, and from his tenth year on, little Mastro was the undisputed champ of his block among all the kids within five years of his age and 40 pounds of his weight. At 14, Earl got his start in amateur bouts where he breezed through all opposition for about three years.

Finally, Mastro went to the Coast, well seasoned in sockology for one so young, and there beat

Francis and La Barba. These victories and his win over Shea convinced Paddy Harmon, the promoter, and other Chicagoans that it's only a matter of time before Mastro cops the world's feather crown.

Kid Chocolate, in particular, may find his master in Mastro if they ever clash. The comparative showing of La Barba against the Cuban and the Chicago boy may be the tip-off. The "Keed" was lucky to win on an accidental foul from La Barba, while Mastro decisively outpointed that tiny boxing master from the Coast.

Civic Progress Indicated by Home Modernizing Movement

MODERNIZATION MAKES MORE PROGRESSIVE CITY

Better Homes and Better Community Result

According to civic leaders the cities that are behind the Home Modernizing Movement are those that will progress. A study of home modernizing over a wide range of towns indicates that when the idea of improving the homes within and without begins to become general, the community starts along the road to progress.

The reasons for this are evident. Modernizing the home improves property values. The home that is modernized not only gains an increased value, but this value is reflected upon the other homes in the neighborhood.

Two or three modernized homes in a run-down community have been known to strike a new spirit that spreads like an epidemic.

Appearance Indicates Community Spirit

The community that is known to have a large number of modern appearing homes carries a reputation for being progressive. The very appearance of the residences indicated that the property owners are up-to-date and abreast of the times.

Strangers in the community are forced to judge by what they see. Their comments on the town are largely based on what they have observed. When that comment is favorable, nine times out of ten their reaction is caused by the view of streets and avenues lined by attractive homes of recent design.

Spic and span homes surrounded by beautiful lawns and shrubbery speak of prosperity and worth. They indicate to the casual visitor that the city is progressive and hustling. Beautiful residential streets are a mark of prosperity and progress.

Modernization Brings Progress

Real estate experts who have studied the relation of business prosperity to the activity in home building and modernizing affirm that invariably the town where modernizing is in progress actually is a live, bustling business center. Modernization and progress go hand in hand, according to these students of business.

Modernization stimulates trade, for the activities of modernizing a home are widespread. The building trades apparently benefit first for many persons think of remodeling as the main function of modernization. An investigation reveals that a diverse number of types of business also benefit. The department store supplies rugs, curtains, draperies and new bed coverings as well as many other household appliances and needs. The furniture store receives calls for new tables, chairs, wicker porch furniture and the like. The real estate and insurance agency writes new policies covering fire and life risks. The bank finances the improvements with loans on first mortgages.

Modernization brings new demands to the family and aids in raising the standard of living in many homes.

All these things work to the good of the community. The benefits are received by the home-owner himself and by his neighbors, directly or indirectly.

SPECIAL GLASS ADMITS ULTRA - VIOLET RAYS

The rays of light that come through the window of your home do not contain the health-giving ultra-violet rays, for the ordinary pane of glass in the window bars its progress.

You can turn your living room or sun parlor into a real health resort by glazing your windows with a new special type of glass that permits the introduction of the ultra violet rays.

As the average man knows, light is composed of waves. White light, sunlight, is a mixture of waves of all lengths. If you pass a beam of light through a prism, the prism will separate the waves of light and show a spectrum or bar of colors. At one end of the bar is the violet ray, made up of short waves. Then come blue, green, yellow, orange and red, each with a longer and longer wave length. Beyond red is infra-red, made up of wave lengths so long that the human eye cannot perceive them. Beyond the violet at the other end of the light bar is ultra-violet, too short to be visible to the human eye.

Every Housewife Will Admire This Neat Kitchen

The old and the new in kitchens is illustrated on this page. Above is a modern kitchen, spic and span, with many of the latest devices that aid the housewife in her work. Below the old fashioned kitchen, a regular inferno in summer.

MAKE THE KITCHEN MORE CONVENIENT

The illustrations on this page vividly present the before and after in kitchen arrangement. It's an object lesson of what is possible in modernization.

The old fashioned kitchen at the bottom is typical of days gone by, yet it must be admitted that many of these home-made ovens still remain to slowly bake the housewife on sultry summer days.

At the top the modern idea in kitchens is presented. Note the gas stove, the handy cupboards and the convenient sink. This workshop of the home is a delight to the housewife that owns it.

Kitchen Most Important Room
When modernizing your house do not overlook the kitchen. It is one of the most important rooms of the dwelling for here the housewife spends many busy hours each day. It is only fair that this room shall receive the attention that its importance demands. Kitchens should be planned to aid in saving steps. They should not be too large for oversized kitchens add more steps to the daily miles that are usually traveled in preparing three meals a day.

The relation of the stove, sink, table and refrigerator should be considered also with labor saving in mind. Many modern homes have eliminated the pantry in favor of cupboards which line the walls. Here are placed the pots and pans, dishes and food-stuffs. Plenty of cupboard room is always desirable.

Good Ventilation Needed

When remodeling the kitchen make certain that ventilation is provided. The process of cooking makes the kitchen hot and uncomfortable. Fresh air must be provided. Ventilating fans are now used in many homes to draw out the heated air. A ventilating flue leading from the gas stove will draw off many kitchen odors.

Must Be Easy to Clean

Many kitchens were constructed with soft wood floors. Today linoleum is largely used as a floor covering over such woods. This linoleum may be varnished to protect its surface and add longer life.

Select the floor cover with cleanliness in mind. The covering should be easy to keep clean.

A wainscoting of wood or tile board often runs up the side walls to the height of four feet, while above it the walls are enameled. With this construction a damp cloth may be used to clean the walls.

The trim of the doors and windows should be simple as less dust collects when the surfaces are plain.

BREAKFAST NOOK FOR HASTY MEALS

The formality of setting the dining table for a hasty breakfast is avoided when the house is equipped with a breakfast nook. Today many homes are being remodeled to include these handy eating places.

The breakfast nook may be a distinct alcove off the kitchen or simply a built-in affair in one corner of the room. Some breakfast nooks are designed to be folded up and hidden in a recess in the wall. Others are stationary. Many housewives prefer to have the seats built-in, but the table so constructed that it can be moved for cleaning the corner and for other kitchen purposes. The seats may be of the box type so that they can be made to serve as storage places.

PAINTED FURNITURE SMART; ECONOMICAL

Painted furniture is in vogue now, and the housewife who yearns for a bedroom suite in her favorite color is able to gratify her taste inexpensively by the simple matter of purchasing the needed can of paint and brush.

Paint and varnish dealers are experienced in this work and will gladly advise the brands of material to use. They can give pointers, too, on the best way to do the job.

Boon to Bad Spellers

The discovery that rubber would effectively erase pencil marks was made about the time of the American Revolution.

Appearances Count

A man's fortune is frequently decided by his first address. If pleasing, others will at once conclude that he has merit; but, if ungraceful, they decide against him.—Lord Chesterfield.

Thorpe, Dr. Samuel M. Miller, Rev. O. H. Sletten, Rev. Alfred H. Wilke, President W. F. Schmidt, Rev. A. W. Walck, Rev. H. B. Kildahl, and Dr. A. Hering, all of the Twin Cities.

REVIVAL CAMPAIGN CLOSES

Rev. Jackson Held Two Services Yesterday at Full Gospel Assembly

The revival meetings at the Full Gospel Assembly closed in a blaze of glory last night. The church building was filled at both services yesterday and during the two services ten souls sought salvation at the altar of prayer. At the service last night five strong men besides a young boy and three young women gave their lives over to the Lord.

Before delivering the evening message Evangelist Jackson praised the Brainerd Dispatch for their splendid liberality in printing an article most every day during the campaign. He stated that in his travels that there were few papers that would run articles covering Gospel meetings. He said also that the Christians of Brainerd should thank God for a paper that would devote a corner of their columns to the Word of God each day.

Rev. Jackson then delivered a stirring message choosing "The Last Hour" for his subject. He stated that man's future destiny depended entirely on his attitude toward God during his last hour here and that the last hour came for every man.

Plans are being made by the Full Gospel folk for another campaign to start in the next two or three weeks.

The company has contracted for 10,000 acres in Minnesota and expect to double its output in 1930. Additional construction has already been started at the Rochester plant to provide for the increased output.

C. F. Kittinger, Brainerd, is the district representative of the company. It was through his efforts that Brainerd was selected as the stopping place for the plane in central Minnesota. The plane will arrive from Mankato, continuing from here to Fergus Falls, then to Fargo, N. D., returning to Iowa.

The Reid-Murdoch and Co. is the oldest established food concern in the world, it being organized in 1853.

TABLET HONORS DEAD LAKE HERO

Granite Memorial at Garrison Honors Memory of William A. Tauer

GAVE LIFE FOR OTHERS

Movement Sponsored by Residents of Morgan Community; Tragedy Recalled

A granite monument four feet high stands in Garrison at the junction of Trunk Highway 18 and 35 erected by citizens of the Morgan community in tribute to the memory of William A. Tauer who gave his life in a futile effort to save capsized fishermen in a raging storm on Mille Lacs Lake.

The tragedy occurred June 10, 1927. Tauer was operating a small resort at Garrison. When the storm came up suddenly several boats were caught on the lake. Tauer made two successful trips and rescued helpless fishermen but on his third trip the boat capsized and five persons out of six in the overloaded motor boat perished.

Tauer was advised by all on the shore not to risk his life in the storm to save people he did not know but he paid no heed.

Tauer was a graduate of the Morgan high school and attended the University of Minnesota. He was survived by a wife and child. His mother and four brothers live in Morgan.

The inscription on the monument reads as follows: "This memorial erected in honor of William A. Tauer who sacrificed his life to save others during the storm on Mille Lacs Lake June 10, 1927 by the people of Morgan, Minnesota."

The movement was sponsored by the Morgan Community club.

CONTEST BOOSTS RADIO POPULARITY

Carload of Sets Expected in Soon to Meet Big Demand; Dorothy Schrader Leads Request was made today by Asher Taylor of the Gateway Electric Co. that all contestants in the Majestic Radio Popularity contest turn in prospects for sets as quickly as possible to avoid last minute confusion and permit accurate checking and allotting votes to the candidates entitled to them.

So popular has the contest become that the supply of radios at the Gateway Electric became exhausted Saturday evening. A carload of new sets will be shipped at an early date.

Mr. Taylor has decided to allow the contestants to take deposits on Majestic and these will be delivered as soon as possible. The deposit will vary with the price of the machine. A Model 91 which sells for $160 will take a $15 deposit and give the holder 5,000 votes. A Model 92 will take $25 deposit and give the holder 15,000 votes and a model 181 will require a $50 deposit and will give the holder 50,000 votes. This will allow everyone interested a chance to get their votes in regardless of the shortage of sets.

The standing in the contest today follows:

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Eddie Regan, once a member of a New York gang, has escaped and gone to Virginia, where he befriends Penfield Paradise, who dies and leaves all his possessions to Eddie. Eddie had been in love with Bernice Veressi, "gang girl," but all thought of her is put out of his heart when he meets and falls in love with Marian Thorndike. Eddie declares his love for Marian, but she discourages him and tells him she expects to marry Tom Freeman. Freeman dislikes Eddie, and one afternoon when Eddie is calling on Marian, Freeman comes in and insults Eddie. Marian tells Eddie it is hopeless for him to love her, and Eddie, discouraged, decides to go to Richmond. While he is there, he meets Mike Arno, a former member of the gang. Arno tells him that Bernice is still in love with him (Eddie) and Eddie's thoughts once more swing to her. Mike tells Eddie he is a "sap" for staying in the country and loving a country girl, but when Eddie returns to his own home, and Marian telephones him, Eddie realizes how deeply he has become attached to his environment.

Now Go On with the Story

CHAPTER XXIX.

IN another moment he feared she would say goodbye, and he was desperately reluctant to end it. The mere sound of her voice over the wire seemed to make his blood run faster and bring to him a pleasure unlike any other possible feeling. He could hang on to her words endlessly, greedily.

"What have you been doing?" he asked.

"Nothing."

"What are you doing now?"

"Oh, there are a dozen things I ought to be doing, but I am just lazing around. Mother and father aren't home yet, and I reckon I'm a little lonesome."

Eddie looked swiftly at the clock in the hall; it was not yet eight o'clock—plenty of time to see her tonight if he dared ask and if she would let him come.

"I'm lonesome myself," he said.

"Why don't you let me come over for a while?"

Briefly she hesitated. Then, "Well, why not? Only we won't get into any argument tonight, will we?"

"I'll say we won't," he responded, thrillingly.

A wild tide of anticipation vibrated through him with stimulating current; when he was shaving and brushing himself to call upon Marian Thorndike there was no state of happiness on earth comparable with it. A boyish pride in his new suit, the fresh shirt and necktie, delighted him. In the past, he had been conscious of a certain shabbiness before her and now he felt for the first time that he might appear well groomed and smart in her eyes.

Maybe those things counted with a girl, maybe they didn't—but all the same he glowed with a minor exultation.

Tobe, already, was at the barn getting the horse and buggy for him. Unexpectedly the telephone rang again and he had a sudden fear that Marian might be calling up again to break the date.

"That you, Regan?"

The masculine voice was faintly familiar, but he could not, at once, identify it.

"This is Regan."

"This is Tom Freeman speaking. Can I see you?"

"You can see me any time you like, Freeman."

"I want to see you right away."

"You can see me any time you like except right away. I am busy this evening. How about the first thing in the morning?"

"I know you are busy tonight," Freeman returned, in a pentup voice, "and that's why I am going to see you. I'll be waiting for you where the road bends past Locust Grove Church. It won't take long."

Eddie, unseen, shrugged his shoulders. Freeman was looking for trouble. It was too bad it couldn't be postponed, but he had no way to stop the guy from meeting him in the road.

"If you insist, tonight's all right with me, Freeman." He hung up the receiver.

The situation was beyond his control. Tom Freeman was going to meet him and there could be only one result—trouble. And the worst of it was that his date with Marian would probably be spoiled. There wasn't a great deal of charm in calling upon the adored object with a black eye or a swollen nose but, at worst, nothing more serious than a scrap was in sight.

Freeman, whatever his faults, was not a dopey New York gangster who would knock a rival off with a bullet from ambush. No, Freeman was not that kind of a man. When Eddie came to Locust Grove Church he saw Freeman's car, with the lights extinguished, drawn up in the yard. Mechanically he turned his horse and buggy in the drive, alighted and tied his horse to a tree.

Freeman stirred with bulky menace in his car, climbed out and slammed the door behind him.

The moon, hanging low in the sky, gave a pale, ghostly light among the trees. Anyone passing the road could not see, without special effort, the vehicles and the two men in the grove that surrounded the church. Eddie walked straight up to Freeman and faced him.

"What's all about, Big Boy?" he demanded.

Freeman had left his hat in the car—and he could see a faint curl in the hair of the other above his sullen, high-colored face.

"It won't take me long to tell you," Tom Freeman replied. "I'm not an eavesdropper, and you understand yourself what these party telephone lines are. I picked up my phone this evening and heard you talking to a certain party."

And of course you stood there with your ear glued," Eddie said, deliberately insulting.

"I listened because it was a matter of personal interest to me," Freeman retorted. "I heard you make a date to call on this party, and I'm here now to tell you that you can't do it."

"Who says I can't?"

"I say you can't. You've been warned that you're not wanted there, and as long as my father is out of the county I'm going to see that you don't put foot on the place."

"You're so thoughtful of her father!" Eddie mocked him.

"That's only part of it, Buddy. I've got a score of my own to settle with you—on account of the little argument we didn't have time to finish the other night. It was a lucky thing for you she came out and stopped it."

Eddie sensed the uselessness of words between them. Freeman wanted action and there was no way, without sacrificing pride, to avoid it.

"All right, Freeman," he said. "No use shewing the rag about it. I'm with you in a minute."

Deliberately he took off his coat and hat, stripped himself to his sleeveless undershirt. Freeman was a trifle surprised at the thoroughness of Eddie's preparation, but he imitated him after a moment's hesitation. Eddie held up his hand warningly.

"You've been wanting this ever since we met, Freeman. There won't be any handshaking—this is your grudge fight and it's going to a finish. Understand? One of us is going to get licked good."

"I'm with you to the finish," Freeman growled. One moment they were standing facing each other with futile fiddling movements of their arms—and then, by sudden mutual impulse, they rushed together, like two wild men, with driving fists, with released hatred and the desire to hurt, to pound, to beat to the earth.

In a twinkling they had thrown away all of the slowly acquired civilization of ten thousand years. Eddie Regan and Tom Freeman were as savage as the primitive men who, perhaps, had fought clad in skins, on this same strip of ground ages ago. They collided, recoiled and rushed back to each other with renewed fury. No words sprang from their clenched lips, only expulsive breathing, gasps and hissings between the teeth. Eddie was conscious of a supreme vigorous condition he had attained through his prolonged outdoor labor with the axe; he could feel his naked fists smash home with driving impacts. Freeman's blows caught him and jarred him, but his fresh vitality threw off the shock.

They were now beyond the point of coherent thought; they were unreasoning, as ferocious as young eyecloves in heated collision. At first it was all a prodigal rushing forth of furiousness, but gradually the early glorious energy of youth and physical condition was expanded, and they fought, now, slowly and more cautiously. The superior weight of Freeman bore down upon Eddie's strength when they locked arms in clinches; it required his full strength to push the other away and drive desperately for the jaw while an opening lasted. Freeman's fists were like huge knobs on the ends of plunging pistons. Eddie jerked his head out of a blow's path and countered with a smash that caught Freeman solidly on the jaw. Whether the blow hurt or not, Eddie had no means of knowing—he felt his own ribs pounded, the right side and then the left. Stepping in closer he shot an upper-cut that snapped the other's head back, but his man still came in.
